

Maps with a great layout design

These maps represent a great layout design in my opinion because the legend colors are well chosen and contrasted. Moreover the maps are not too full with text or informations. So this kind of design makes the map clear enough to be easy to read.

Maps with a bad layout design

These maps represent a bad layout design in my opinion because they are not well organized. One map has a lot of text inside the map frame which makes difficult to read (River Thames map). One map has the scale bar in the middle and the North arrow symbol too big above. So it makes the reader focus on secondary information which is not so good to understand the map (income map). One has a legend with too much symbols which makes also the map difficult to read (geological map).
